

SELECTED LOGS

edited by Gigi Guledani

The book "SELECTED LOGS" consists of conversation records selected from a pool of cyber dialogs exchanged between Georgian urban community (from the capital Tbilisi/Tiflis).

Structure of the dialogs, as well as their automatic means of origination and preservation may hint towards emergence of a new form of non-fiction writing which can be defined as an embryonic stage for self-generating short stories and/or theatrical plays.

Due to the nature of an Latin alphabet-oriented internet scripting, texts/speeches in Georgian being transcribed in Latin letters, are able to surpass imposed language restrictions of the global on-demand channels of book/text distribution.
